

11th September 2015 – Weekly Newsletter

Excellent start to school for all our Reception children, they have settled in very well and are really enjoying all the experiences!

Jeans for Genes Day

Next Friday 18th September, we will be fundraising for 'Jeans for Genes' – gene research into serious illness. The children may wear jeans and/or denim jackets and shirts for school that day for a contribution of £1. We hope you will support this worthy cause.

Macmillan Coffee Morning

On Friday 25th September, we are again fundraising for charity – this time we would like to invite you all into school for tea/coffee and cakes between 1.30pm & 3pm: £1 for a hot drink and a cake. We would be very grateful to anyone who could help us by baking cakes – please bring them into school that Friday morning. Thank you.

Book club reminder

Book club for all the classes is every Monday. You may send in a small amount of money, e.g. 50p or £1 to encourage your child to save up for their new book. We have a wide range of books at very reasonable prices!

Congratulations to this week's achievers:

Attendance

Attendance for the whole school last year was 95.6%. Well done everyone! This is the first time that our attendance for the year has been ABOVE the government's target of 95%. I am delighted! Let's keep it up this year.

For new parents, we reward good attendance every week in Friday's Award Assembly with individual stickers for 100% attendance and class certificates for the class with the highest attendance of the week.

Remember snack money every Monday - £1. Thank you!

Looking ahead
