Outdoor Classroom Day

After a false start on Wednesday, we finally got to hold our Outdoor Classroom Day. The day went well, with the children enjoying den building, planting flowers, sports equipment and many more activities. There was a threat of rain after lunch, but thankfully it held off. I really enjoyed seeing the children working collaboratively and showing some excellent resilience in their learning. They also had a lot of fun, making the day very special. It really encapsulated our school ethos.

School Transition

Today, every pupil in the school has had the chance to visit their new teacher and new classroom. Transition activities such as these are extremely important to ensure that the pupils will feel happy about their move in September. We will be having further events in the coming weeks, so rest assured that we are doing as much as we can in this respect.

Congratulations to this week's achievers:
